

The Drum Cryptographs: 1960-1963

The Pyramid

1996-1997

Exhibition Curated by Stanley L.
Catal

November 13, 1996 - January 20, 1997

Sordani Art Gal
Will
"Willas, Rorra, Danna, Lani" © 1994
Ess: © 1994 by Clinton Ad

Stanley I Grand

I first met Jules and Lorraine Sherman while working on my dissertation. They invited me out to their Long Island home and during the course of our visit introduced me to the Drum Lithographs. At the time, I thought that these little-known lithographs would make an excellent exhibition. In 1993, their son Michael and his wife Kim donated 121 of the prints to the Sordoni Art Gallery, Wilkes University. This exhibition is drawn primarily from that generous gift.

I am particularly grateful to Cannon Adams, whose knowledge of lithography and twentieth-century American lithographers is unparalleled, for writing the catalogue. He has been a delightful person with whom to work.

Ken Gibson photographed the lithographs at Christopher and Yvette Deaton's New York studio.

The Metro Agency designed the catalogue, which was printed by Metro Litho.

Finally, I wish to express my thanks to the Sordoni Art Gallery's Friends of the Sordoni Art Gallery and the Gallery's Advisory Commission.

Jules Sherman

I remember the day in 1960 when I met Jules and Lorraine Sherman. I can't say exactly when, but I know it was in the winter of 1960. I can't say exactly where, but I know it was in their home in Long Island. I can't say exactly what we talked about, but I know it was about art. I can't say exactly how long we talked, but I know it was for a long time. I can't say exactly what we decided, but I know it was to start a lithography program. I can't say exactly when we started, but I know it was in the summer of 1960. I can't say exactly where we started, but I know it was in their home in Long Island. I can't say exactly what we did, but I know it was to start a lithography program. I can't say exactly how long we did it, but I know it was for a long time. I can't say exactly what we achieved, but I know it was a great success.

An Atelier! In a commercial litho plant! I had been told that this was the only way to do it. Several of my personal friends were about to be fulfilled. Several of my personal friends were about to be fulfilled. We began work almost immediately, buying wood and aluminum plates, coatings and etches, and other contemporary lithographic techniques and materials. Nothing worked. Finally we custom ordered special press-size paper plates. Designed exclusively for short runs on small museum equipment, the paper plates were unstable, fragile and temperamental, but they functioned magnificently beyond our wildest expectations. With the basic production problem now resolved, the print program began in earnest.

we agreed, at the very beginning, that no restrictions would ever be imposed on the artists or their work, that all costs would be absorbed by the shop so that the artists would not be inhibited by financial considerations; that our aim in printing was solely educational and joyous and that the ultimate product would reflect this philosophy.

Collectors Graphics Jacques Lipchitz, Master, friend of Modigliani, Picasso and their contemporaries realized the freedom of Collectors Graphics and brought forth its soul. We had scheduled an evening's production: everything was in order when the phone rang. Sick at home with the flu and deeply apologetic about his inability to be present at the printing, Jacques was nonetheless reluctant to break the schedule. I was at press side and asked if he would permit me to be his eyes: I would describe what was going on to the waiting pressman. He agreed!

Later that evening, I delivered the prints to his home. This gentle giant of a man was overwhelmed. He left his bed, hugged me and said in his endearing French accent, "Jules, you have given me new hope for a life in art!"

With undying love for Reginald, his daughter and to see.
With undying love for Merrill, his identical twin, who taught me to feel.
With undying love for Lou, their brother, who taught me to feel.

THE DRUM LITHOGRAPHS: 1960-1963

Clinton Adams

As has often been the case in the history of artists' lithography, a fortuitous meeting between an artist and a printer resulted in a significant collaboration. Between 1960 and 1963, Pollack's lithography was made possible by the printer Jules Sherman, who offered to print Pollack's hand-drawn lithographs for the series.

Pollack had first encountered lithography while an apprentice to Moses Soyfer in 1941; soon thereafter, he and some friends had printed lithographs from stone, using presses and equipment at East Side House in Manhattan. In 1948, after military service during World War II, Pollack went to Paris for study, with support from the G.I. Bill. He soon met the French printer Gaston Dorville, who introduced him to the artist (he was then twenty-five) and to the printing process. In Paris, he studied with the artist Léon Foulouse-Lautrec. While living in Paris, Pollack continued to work in New York, most often at the Peridot Gallery, established by his brother Louis in 1949. To earn money on the side, he began buying prints in Paris—on the quais and at auctions—acting as agent for Louis Pollack, Charles Stern, and the print dealer, Peter Denise. In 1950, he made his first lithographs in Paris, including one on commission from William S. Sieberman, then Curator of Prints at the Museum of Modern Art.

Simultaneously, a new interest in lithography was developing in the United States. In New York, Margaret Lowengrund opened the Lithography Center (predecessor to the Lithography Workshop) in 1954, in collaboration with Larry Rivers and Frank O'Hara in 1957. In Los Angeles, June Wayne, with a grant from the Ford Foundation, established Tamarind Lithography Workshop in 1960.<sup>3</sup> Each of these workshops had a primary goal: the training of a new generation of master printers who, in concert with "artists of diverse styles . . . [would] restore the prestige of lithography by actually creating a conception of the contemporary print."

Reginald Pollack, however, had come to believe that collaborative lithographic workshops were "anathema to the lithographic technology" that caused art to lose its spontaneity. "It was the technology that was of interest, rather than the work of art." This conviction led Pollack to seek simpler ways to make prints. Soon after returning from Paris to New York, he worked with the printer Martin Levitt, who introduced him to the multiple process, a form of offset lithography. Levitt and Pollack worked with Levitt to create a suite of small black and white lithographs, "Interiors and Exteriors," later boxed and exhibited by the Peridot Gallery. Meanwhile, over lunches in New York, Pollack had conveyed to ArtNews magazine, Walter Reuther, the possible ways to stimulate collaboration between artists and poets (and was thus parallel in intention to the portfolio of poems by Reuther and Pollack, 1957 and completed in 1966).

Precisely because of its lack of technical barriers, the multiple process was written, without reversal of the image.<sup>7</sup> "We were filling the gap that members of the mechanism was not. It was such that Pollack met Jules Sherman, a printer who had not been satisfied with the multiple process. He was delighted to discover that Sherman was able (by special order) to secure larger [Sherman] was interested in my research to create prints, and offered his friendship and assistance. The multiple process was not on the market; the poetry, and the "Vision" and was never put on the market.<sup>10</sup>

At the age of each day or each . . . and fired with the sense of . . . Reuther of the process, there was little direct . . . provided the artists with . . . used in lithography, but nothing was proofed; the plate went on the press, and that was it. . . . whether in black and white or in colors, the plates were printed.

As a means of financing the project, Louis and Paul Pollack brothers decided to form a new corporation, Collectors Graphics, Inc., including some who were represented by David Colquhoun in New York. They hired artist Joel Goldblatt to help them understand the technical requirements with them, then, a week or two (or three) before the plates were to be delivered to the press, Goldblatt would return the completed editions to the artist for signature.

We concentrated on artists who were being pushed aside . . . of the abstract expressionist heyday, and the bulk of the art we chose was figurative. . . . Lou persuaded . . . Lou persuaded . . . also did a three-color print for Jacques Lipchitz, which was donated to the State of Israel.<sup>15</sup> I contacted . . . over . . . Fairfield . . .

More than 100 editions were soon completed, and on 17 April 1961 an initial exhibition was presented at the P.S. 1 Gallery. The announcement stressed the "new technique of lithography" that had been employed in the making of the prints, a point widely echoed in reviews of the exhibition.<sup>16</sup> Writing in THE NEW YORKER, Kenneth Koch spoke of the "vigorous spontaneity" of the prints:

[They] make one realize with relief that, after all, vigorous drawing hasn't disappeared, it's simply submerged for the moment. . . . As one who enjoys rehearsals, sketches, run-throughs—anything in its nascent, bawling, unorchestrated state, I am tired of full orchestrations.<sup>17</sup>

Clearly, it was this quality of improvisation that most attracted many of the artists who participated in the project.

Highly personal and individualistic in concept, an approach that allowed maximum spontaneity and a freedom comparable to drawing in his own sketchbooks. He liked the loose, fingerprinted, almost unrecognizable look of the finished work. The direct quality of the medium, the paper plates, made it possible

In November 1963, . . . .
agent for . . . .
Attractive Prices . . . .
. . . . an astute and informed collector, wrote in a foreword . . . .
meant for everyone, and now can be bought at Sotheby's auctions, by anyone, personally sales . . . . every item offered . . . .<sup>19</sup> Jules Seligman estimates that roughly half of the lithographs produced at Drum Lithographers were sold either to Sotheby's or to other volume purchasers.<sup>20</sup>

A second exhibition . . . .
Period in December . . . .
announced, "were selected on the basis of their drawing ability. . . . The style . . . .
subjects . . . . from Paul and Louis Pollack's . . . .
puppeteers; . . . .
more . . . . the prints . . . . more spontaneous and free than more . . . . lithography on quality of watercolor . . . .
his . . . .
turbulent."<sup>23</sup>

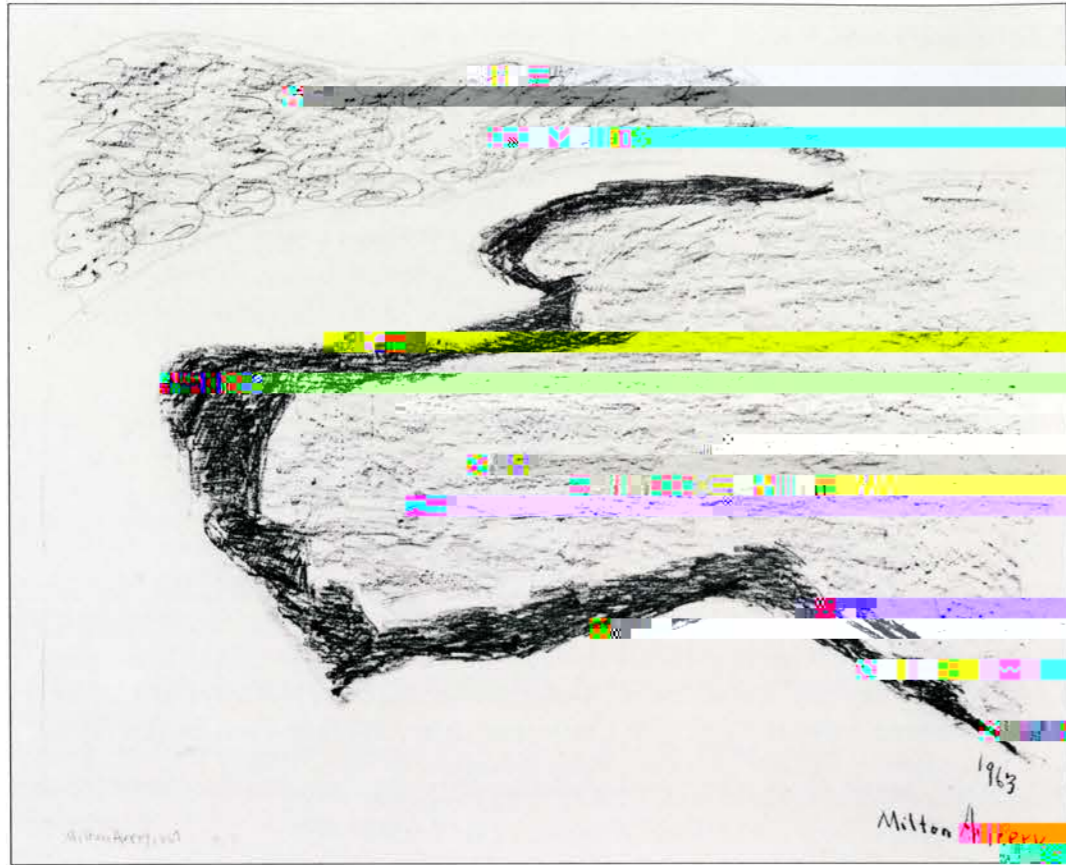

By 1962, . . . .
moved to Los Angeles during 1963, . . . .
Louis Pollack's health was deteriorating, and in December of that year he consigned the remaining lithographs to the P.S. 1 Gallery, where they would be sold as the "Collectors Graphics Collection."

in the past thirty . . . .
known and little seen, . . . .
as we look at them now, we are struck by their . . . .
"homony" of Mary Frank's linear drawings,<sup>27</sup> the lively expressionism of Jane Freilicher's landscapes; the . . . .
of James Brooks's brush drawing; the "extraordinary facility" of David Levin's . . . .
can be no question but that these works . . . .
long neglected) chapter in the history of American lithography.

NOTES

1. Sherman to Adams, 17 June 1974. Pollack for their generous assistance in the writing of this book.
2. Lanier Graham had informed Adams of the Print Council of America's generosity associated with Theodore L. H. Green, who had been simultaneously Director of the International Graphic Art Society (IGAS) and distributed editions by American and European artists, and a member of the Pratt Graphic Arts Center's advisory board. Also a member of the Ford Foundation support (through diversion of funds from Tamarind to Pratt) for to bring French lithography to the United States.
3. See Sherman, Art and Industry (Albuquerque: University of New Mexico Press, 1989), pp. 182-200.
4. June Wayne, "To Restore the Art of the Lithograph in the United States," a proposal submitted to the Program in Humanities and the Arts, Stanford University, 1959.
5. Pollack, in conversation with Adams, 8 August 1970. Pollack was preparing a manuscript on this invention.
6. See Lanier Graham, "The Rise of the Lithé Artist in America: Reflections on 271. Ichy and Poems and the Early 1960s," Technical Papers 13 (1990): 25-40.
7. As in all stone printing, the image is twice reversed: once upon transfer to an intermediary "blanket," and again upon transfer to the paper as the artist draws it on the stone.
8. Pollack, in telephone conversation with Adams, 20 July 1974.
9. James T. Simpson has mistakenly written that Drum Lithographers is a commercial printer in New York City (Sherman) who invited artists to visit his Island in the early 1960s and use the list of artists in the exhibition catalogue, Underexposed (New York: Columbia University, 1992), p. 1). Sherman confirms that all of the lithographs were printed at Drum Lithographers in Manhattan and that the list of artists was assigned a Collectors Graphics number, beginning with seven prints by Carmen Uceró, four of which are dated 1960.
10. Pollack to Adams, 4 June 1994. Except as otherwise noted, all quotations are from Sherman to Adams, 17 June 1974.
11. Sherman to Adams, 17 June 1974.
12. Pollack, in telephone conversation with Adams, 20 July 1974.
13. Sherman to Adams, 17 June 1974. Paul Resika, and Alvin Ross were among those who came to the pressroom.
14. Sherman, in telephone conversation with Adams, 26 July 1974.

15. Lipchitz made a total of three lithographs.
16. In fact, American artists had not drawn lithographs until the following year, while teaching at the Florence Art Institute, a mutual press and, together with Albert Carman and Emilio Ambasz, made a number of lithographs (1957); the historic position pertained to the "The Artists Color Proof Associates" (ca. 1956-61) and for Marc Chagall's Tales from the Arabian Nights (1957) and others, including Illustrations for the American Lithographie (1957).
17. See Sherman, Art and Industry.
18. Joan Ludman, Farfield Point: Joan Ludman's Prints including Illustrations, Bookjackets, and Exhibition Posters (Searsdale, N.Y.: Highland House, 1961), p. 10. collection and I just wrote to you about it. (Price to Louis and Reginald Pollack, 23 November 1962). prints on 12 October 1961. Sears made payment of $53,531.50 for 540 impressions on 19 November 1962. Editions purchased by Sears included Carmen Uceró, Abstraction; Robert Rauschenberg, Orange; David Levine, Coney Island; Reginald G. Glick, Old man at Table; Mario Asarab, Still Life with Fruit; Paul Resika, Seated Girl; Larry Rivers, Poster (sales catalogue published by Sears, 1963).
25. Collectors [sic] Graphics number 11.
25. Sherman sold Drum Lithographs in 1970.
25. Letter of agreement between Collectors Graphics and Peridot Gallery, Inc., 20 December 1965. Thank Joan T. Washburn and Jay Grimm for making available materials contained in the Peridot Gallery scrapbooks.
26. Louis Pollack (b. 1921), d. 1970.
27. Hilton Kramer, quoted in Underexposed, p. 11.
28. Underexposed, p. 11.

MILTON AVERY, Landscape, color lithograph, 22 x 27 3/4.

ROSEMARIE BECK, Violinst, lithograph, 12 3/4 x 10.

JANICE BIALA, Interior, lithograph, 12 1/2 x 10.

JAMES BROOKS, Black and White, lithograph, 10 x 14.

1/2 of C. 1/2

CARRIAGE 1/2 of C. 1/2

1/2 of C. 1/2

MADY EDANK 1/2 of C. 1/2

FULVIO PRATESI, Left of Scrap (1995), 51.2 x 39.1 cm lithograph, 29 x 23.

SANDE FRENEREU, Landscape, lithograph, 20 x 20 3/4 x 28 3/4.

PAUL GEORGES, Win

PAUL GEORGES, Win

ROBERT GOODNOUGH, Horseman [Black and Sepia], color lithograph, 23 x 29.

RIRK HASEN, Face Constant, lithograph (1968), 99 - 91 1/4

JOHN HELIKER, Self-Portrait, lithograph, 1978, 9 7/8 x 7 1/2.

WOLF KASPER, Self-Portrait, lithograph, 1978, 9 7/8 x 7 1/2.

ALEX KATZ, Double Portrait, charcoal, 10 x 14

DAVID LEVINE, Animal Kingdom, charcoal, 17 x 14

JACQUES LIPCHITZ, Title Portrait of a Woman, 1950

RICHARD MAYHEW, Trees, lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4.

MICHAEL MASZI, Untitled (Adult Holding Child with Book), lithograph, 9 1/2 x 9 1/2.

RICHARD MAYHEW, Trees, lithograph, 10 x 13 3/4.

MICHAEL MAZUR, Untitled [A Child Holding a Child with a Bird], lithograph, 20 x 27.

MARK MCAFEE, You Will Never Catch Me, color lithograph, 28 x 23 in.

WALTER TANDY

CONSTANTINE MENDELSSOHN, Two People, 1811

PHILIP PEARLSTEIN, Landscape, 1811

REGINALD POLJACK, Landscape

FAIRFIELD PORTER, Child Writing [Lizzie]

PAUL RESIKA, Child Playing with Teardrop (1963), lithograph, 14 1/2 x 10.

LARRY RIVERS, Head (1961), lithograph, 14 1/2 x 10.

ALVIN ROSS, Fishing on the Arno, color lithograph, 23 x 23.

TOBIAS SCHNEEBAUM, Jungle [Black], lithograph, 29 x 23.

BURTON SIERMAN, Monhegan Shore

REUBEN TAM, Monhegan Shore

JANE FREILICHER, Landscape, color lithograph, 20 x 22.

CHECKLIST OF THE EXHIBITION

Dimensions are given in inches, height precedes width.

Milton Avery (1893-1965)

Landscape

color lithograph, 22 x 27 3/4

signed lower left and numbered 1/18

Courtesy of an anonymous private collection

Jane Freilicher (b. 1924)

Landscape

color lithograph, 28 5/8 x 23

signed lower left and numbered 22/104

Collectors Graphics #168

John Heliker (b. 1909)

Landscape

lithograph, 10 x 13

signed lower left and numbered 13/100

Collectors Graphics #178

Rosemarie Beck (b. 1923)

lithograph, 12 3/4 x 10

signed lower right and numbered 99/105

Paul Georges (b. 1923)

lithograph, 10 x 13

signed lower right and numbered 57/76

John Heliker (b. 1909)

lithograph, 12 5/8 x 9 5/8

numbered 1/20

Collectors Graphics #120

Janice Biala (b. 1903, Poland)

Interior

lithograph, 12 1/2 x 10

signed upper right and numbered 1/15

Collectors Graphics #115

Paul Georges (b. 1923)

Stühning Crail

color lithograph, 29 x 22 1/2

signed lower right and numbered 1/149

Collectors Graphics #149

Wolf Kahn (b. 1927, Germany)

lithograph, 10 x 14

signed lower left and numbered 69/85

Collectors Graphics #84

James Brooks (1906-1992)

Black and White

lithograph, 10 x 14

signed lower right and numbered 1/85

Collectors Graphics #85

Paul Georges (b. 1923)

White Landscape

lithograph, 10 x 14

signed lower right and numbered 1/171

Collectors Graphics #171

John Heliker (b. 1909)

Double Portrait [Ada]

Bird Lives, 1960

lithograph, 9 x 13

signed lower right and numbered 68/85

Collectors Graphics #2

Paul Georges (b. 1923)

Self, Lila, and Dark Bird Light

lithograph, 13 5/8 x 10

signed lower right and numbered 25/85

Collectors Graphics #15

John Heliker (b. 1909)

Animal Kingdom

color lithograph, 17 1/4 x 29

signed upper right and numbered 19/105

Collectors Graphics #157

Mary Frank (b. 1933, England)

Hand

lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4

signed lower right and numbered 44/74

Collectors Graphics #187b

Robert Goodnough (b. 1917)

Horse and Jockey

lithograph, 10 x 14

signed lower right and numbered 69/85

Collectors Graphics #17

John Heliker (b. 1909)

Fat Girl, 1963

lithograph, 17 5/8 x 13 1/8

signed and dated upper right and numbered 110/122

Collectors Graphics #133

Mary Frank (b. 1933, England)

Woman Figure

lithograph, 20 x 19 1/2

signed lower right and numbered 101/67

Collectors Graphics #184

Robert Goodnough (b. 1917)

Horse and Jockey (Sepia)

color lithograph, 10 x 14

signed lower right and numbered 35/75

Collectors Graphics #22

Antonio Frasconi (b. 1919, Uruguay)

Field of Scrap, 1963

color lithograph, 29 x 23

signed and dated lower right and numbered 26/89

Collectors Graphics #169

Robert Goodnough (b. 1917)

Nomads, 1960

lithograph, 10 x 14

signed lower right and numbered 25/104

Collectors Graphics #138

Jacques Lipchitz (1891-1973, Lithuania)

Title Unknown

lithograph, 27 x 20 3/4

signed lower right and annotated artist's proof

Courtesy of an anonymous private collection

Jane Freilicher (b. 1924)

Landscape

lithograph, 25 x 28 1/4

signed lower right and numbered 26/97

Collectors Graphics #155

Burt Hasen (b. 1921)

From a Collection of 1963

lithograph, 20 x 21 1/4

signed lower right and numbered 25/104

Collectors Graphics #138

Jacques Lipchitz (1891-1973, Lithuania)

Title Unknown

lithograph, 24 x 10

signed lower right and annotated artist's proof

Courtesy of an anonymous private collection

Marisol [Escobar] (b. 1930, France)
Foot and Faces, 1961
lithograph, 13 1/8 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 68/85
Collectors Graphics #72

Richard Mayhew (b. 1924)
Trees
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 19/60
Collectors Graphics #207

Michael Mazur (b. 1935)
Figure Group
lithograph, 23 x 29
signed lower right and numbered 48/88
Collectors Graphics #130

Michael Mazur (b. 1935)
Untitled (Adult Holding a Child with Rabbit)
lithograph, 23 x 29
unsigned and unnumbered edition of 95/100
Collectors Graphics #130

You Will Never Catch Me
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right
Collectors Graphics #141

Walter Tandy Murch (1907-1967, Canada)
Untitled
lithograph, 23 x 19
signed lower right and annotated artist's proof
numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #68
Courtesy of an anonymous private collection

Constantine Nivea (1911-1988, Greece)
Two Beds, 1963
lithograph, 14 x 10
signed in plate, dated and numbered 195/195
Collectors Graphics #194

Constantine Nivea (1911-1988, Greece)
Two People in Bed, 1955
color lithograph, 29 x 23
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #131

Philip Pearlstein (b. 1924)
Landscape
lithograph, 23 1/8 x 29
signed lower right and numbered 69/75
Collectors Graphics #09, Landwehr #1

Reginald Pollack (b. 1924)
Connecticut Landscape
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 44/55
Collectors Graphics #187

Reginald Pollack (b. 1924)
Landscape
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 20/65
Collectors Graphics #176

Reginald Pollack (b. 1924)
Southampton Beach
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #185

Reginald Pollack (b. 1924)
Fair Field Road (100) (1970-1975)
Cloud Writing (Lazzie Drawing)
lithograph, 10 x 14
signed lower right and numbered 70/85
Collectors Graphics #94, Ludman #12

Reginald Pollack (b. 1924)
Snow Landscape
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #87, Ludman #14

Paul Resika (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 12 3/4 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #109

Paul Resika (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 14 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #111

Paul Resika (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 12 3/4 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #115

Paul Resika (b. 1928)
Standing Boy
lithograph, 14 x 10
unsigned and unnumbered
Collectors Graphics #205

Alvin Ross (1920-1975)
Untitled
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #163

Alvin Ross (1920-1975)
Untitled
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #163

Tobias Schneebaum (b. 1924)
Untitled
lithograph, 29 x 23
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #153

Tobias Schneebaum (b. 1924)
Untitled
lithograph, 14 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 42/60
Collectors Graphics #153

Burton Silverman (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 10 x 12 3/4
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #111

Burton Silverman (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 12 3/4 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #111

Burton Silverman (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 14 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #111

Burton Silverman (b. 1928)
Untitled
lithograph, 12 3/4 x 10
signed lower right and numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #115

Jane Wilson (b. 1924)
Landscape
color lithograph, 26 x 22
signed lower right and annotated artist's proof
numbered 1/10
Collectors Graphics #205

ADVISOR

Freddie Bittenbender

Christopher B. Bette, Ph.D.

Joseph T. Butkiewicz

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

John C. Campbell

